Threaten Counter Measures In Blockade

Tell Soviets Not To Stop Berlin Travel

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Switching from soft to strong words, the United States today threatened counter measures against the Russians unless they end the "baby blockade" of Berlin.

The state department gave this blunt warning in a statement denouncing Soviet restriction on western traffic as a violation of last June's agreement which ended the old blockade.

The United States is "deeply concerned" over the situation, the department said, adding that this country stands ready to resume the allied airlift to Berlin if needed.

Consider Counter Measures
"We believe we must actively consider whether counter measures should not be taken," Press Officer Michael J. McDermott told a news conference.

This tougher American stand marked somewhat of a change in the state department's attitude toward the Russian slow-down of rail and truck traffic to Berlin.

Until now, state department officials, led by American high commissioner John J. McCloy, have been describing the traffic tie-up as a Russian "arm twisting maneuver" which must be expected every so often.

McCloy was scheduled to fly back to Frankfurt from New York today after completing consultations with the state department which were scheduled before Russian suddenly restricted traffic into Berlin 15 days ago.

McCloy refused to spell out what "counter measures" the state department is considering. Other officials indicated, however, that western powers might retaliate by slowing down or halting the entry of Russian trucks, trains and barges into the western zones.

Such a counter blockade was one of the main reasons, said these officials, that Russia finally agreed to abandon its year-long blockade last May 12.

By this move, Russia and eastern Germany were denied many of the industrial products, machine tools and other equipment needed to hasten recovery in eastern Europe.

The United States and Britain on the other hand, supplied by plane the raw materials and food which the Russians shut off from eastern Germany during the blockade.

The Russians began their traffic slowdown in apparent retaliation for the action of west German police in seizing a Soviet railway administration building in west Berlin. The building subsequently was returned to the Russians.

Light Plane Pilot Saves 12 Stranded Fishermen On Ice

Pinconning, Mich., Feb. 2.—(AP)—A daring light plane pilot, flying in gusty weather, today snatched 12 stranded ice fishermen from possible death on a floe in Saginaw Bay.

The pilot, Calvin Carstens, 29, of Pinconning, made seven trips in his three place Piper cruiser before he could get the sportsmen to safety.

He landed his ship on six-inch thick ice, more than a mile out in the bay, picked up two men each time, and shot them back across a 75-foot wide stream of blue water.

The seventh trip was to rescue an old, Robert Hasso, who had been taken out on the first trip.

"I was kinda worried about the wind," said the pilot, a veteran of 51 B-17 missions in Europe. "I had to keep the plane into the wind all the time, or she might have turned over."

The takeoffs and landings, he said, were "not too bad," but in the air, with the wind coming in gusts of 40 miles an hour, "things were a little rough." He is married and has two children.

Rescuers waited on the other side of the break to take the fishermen to shore. No one was reported injured, and no one suffered from exposure.

CONGRESS GETS TOGETHER ON OLEO

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The House today sent its oleomargarine tax repeal bill to conference with the Senate to iron out differences in separate measures.

The action was taken over objections of dairy state members.

The principal difference in House and Senate bills is a Senate requirement that oleomargarine be served in triangular shape to distinguish it from butter.

House conferees are Reps. Cawley (D-Mo.), Pace (D-Ga.), Pope (D-Texas), Hope (R-Kans.) and Andrews (R-Minn.).

Douglas Urges Police Force Be Given To UN

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Two democratic senators sought the backing of congress today for creation of a United Nations police force to act positively against aggressors.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) argued to the Senate foreign relations committee that such a force, properly utilized, could prevent a billion persons in the Far East from being hemmed in behind Russia's iron curtain.

Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) is a co-sponsor of the resolution. Thomas is a member of the foreign relations group; Douglas, a freshman senator, is not.

Under their plan, the force would swing into action upon a two-thirds vote of the U. N. General Assembly, which would have to include the votes of three of the Big Five permanent members of the Security Council.

Thus under such an agreement, no one or even two members of the Security Council could veto the use of force wanted by at least two-thirds of the total U. N. membership.

At present, the charter provides that each member state shall furnish armed forces to the Security Council upon call to enforce the council's decisions. These forces would be furnished by agreement between the states and the council. But to date the council has been unable to agree on how the armed forces should be apportioned and what ratio should be used.

Executive Council AFL Calls For Excise Tax Repeal

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 2.—(AP)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor today called for immediate repeal of wartime excise taxes.

The council said they are "strangling" business and employment and failure by congress to repeal them is "a breach of faith with the American people."

The AFL policymaking group declared the wartime excise taxes were originally enacted only as temporary revenue measures and large groups of union members are protesting against continuing them any longer.

The taxes apply to amusements, transportation, cosmetics, leather goods, jewelry and other products. The council said the amusement admissions tax particularly is a burden on workers for whom motion pictures are a principal form of entertainment.

AFL President William Green said workers have found they cannot afford to attend movies as often as they would like, because of the 20 per cent excise tax.

"After all," Green said, "the war has been over for five years."

Report Migraine Headache Attacks May Be Avoided

Chicago, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Migraine headaches may be avoided if a patient inhales a carbon dioxide mixture when he feels an attack coming on, two physicians reported today.

Drs. Robert M. Marcusen and Harold G. Wolff of New York gave a series of patients a mixture of 10 per cent carbon dioxide and 90 per cent oxygen.

The inhalations were started in the pre-headache stage, when patients had visual disturbance or other symptoms. In most instances, the early symptoms and the headache did not develop.

In a report in the archives of neurology and psychiatry, published by the American Medical association, they said:

"These experiments indicate that the migraine attack can be interrupted before the headache develops."

When the mixture was withheld until the headache started, they said, results were unpredictable.

Farmer Asks Court Order To Enforce Gambling Statutes

Pekin, Ill., Feb. 2.—(AP)—A retired farmer asked a court order today to require the Tazewell county sheriff to shut down gambling.

Fred McCrane, of nearby Tremont, declared in his petition that gambling laws "are being openly violated" in the county.

He asked for a writ of mandamus to compel Sheriff Herbert L. Hirstein to enforce the gambling laws. Hirstein could not be reached immediately for comment. He is running without opposition for the republican nomination for county treasurer in the April primary.

McCrane's petition was filed by Attorney Eugene M. Pratt of Pekin.

It said internal revenue department records show 419 slot machines operating in the county. It also named several places where it claimed dice tables were in operation and horse race bets taken.

ONE WORRY ENDED

Ohio River Spills Over Its Bank In Cincinnati Area

By The Associated Press
The fast-rising Ohio river spilled over its banks at Cincinnati Thursday. Flood threats grew more acute in Kentucky and West Virginia.

Bitter cold clung to the northern plains and northwest states, but winter pulled its punches in most other sections of the country.

The Ohio river passed the 52 foot flood stage in Cincinnati Thursday morning, and headed for a predicted crest of 60.5 feet about Saturday midnight.

The rising water poured over some highways and is expected to flood lowlands in an area around Portsmouth, C., Maysville, Ky., and Florence, Ind. Some business houses closed in Ripley, O., because of high water.

However, veteran river observers predicted the Ohio would not cause any serious damage at this time.

Evacuations were stepped up in southeastern Kentucky, where the Cumberland river is on the rise. Several hundred families have been driven from their homes. The swollen Big Sandy river also forced some evacuations in northwestern Kentucky. At Catlettsburg, where the Big Sandy empties into the Ohio, the Red Cross set up a shelter to care for the homeless.

STEP UP ATOMIC PEACE PRODUCTION

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The atomic energy commission is stepping up production of atomic materials for peacetime uses at the same time it undertakes development of a new hydrogen super-bomb.

The AEC disclosed today that its production and distribution of radioactive isotopes is going on an assembly line basis. These isotopes array-emitting atoms for use in medical, biological, industrial and agricultural research.

President Ribs Republicans But Says Nothing Of 1952 Intentions

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—President Truman today ribbed Republicans but said nothing of 1952 intentions.

That was at his regular Thursday news conference, where questions took him on a fast circuit of these "cinder time" topics:

H-Bomb—Nothing more will be said about the decision to go ahead with the hydrogen bomb. No formal notice to the United Nations is necessary. The United States constantly is urging all nations to accept international control of atomic weapons.

Coal—The chief executive still is keeping the Taft-Hartley law in reserve. He said he will use it if the coal strike turns into an emergency. Reporters remarked that Senator Byrd (D-Va.) has intimated the president has an agreement with labor not to invoke Taft-Hartley and its powers to combat strikes through court orders. Mr. Truman said he had no such agreement.

Civil Rights—Mr. Truman said he keeps urging his congressional lieutenants to get Senate and House action on a bill to establish a fair employment practices commission.

Mighty Mo—No comment on the navy's success in getting the battleship Missouri off a Chesapeake Bay shoal. The president can't say whether the Missouri will be taken out of service.

Spuds—The government potato buying program is a sectional thing for the benefit of Maine growers, although it affects those elsewhere.

Corrosion—A new presidential order for secrecy about defense installations and equipment merely is an old one brought up to date. Mr. Truman had no interpretation of it for reporters who might be confused as to what they can write about.

Politics—A Senate-approved constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college is a forward looking step.

If approved by two thirds of the House and three fourths of the states, it would split a state's electoral vote among presidential candidates according to the popular vote they receive.

Under the present system, the candidate setting the biggest popular vote gets a state's entire electoral vote.

Operators Break Off Peace Talks; Accept Truman Plan

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The major block of coal operators abruptly breaking off their peace talks with John L. Lewis, today accepted President Truman's plan for a 70-day strike truce and a White House fact-finding board.

Operators of the northern and western mines, source of about half of the nation's coal, said negotiation was "useless" because Lewis still insists on "controlling production."

To Be Ready By 6th
They offered to have the mines ready for normal production on February 6, as Mr. Truman asked. But Lewis, who accused the operators of breaking negotiations, declined comment on the Truman plan.

If the United Mine Workers leader said the president downed this would put it squarely up to the White House whether to use a Taft-Hartley injunction in an attempt to end eight months of turmoil and part-time production in the coal fields.

But tonight some persons close to the dispute speculated that Lewis would accept the alternative plan of the president—a resumption of negotiations without fact-finding.

In either case, Mr. Truman's proposal calls for "normal" coal output. But Lewis reportedly is ready with figures to indicate that production has averaged only about 3 1/2 days a week over the past 20 years, including wartime and periods of strike idleness.

Approximately Normal
If the 100,000 miners now on strike are returned to their jobs on a three-day basis, Lewis therefore might contend that production was approximately normal for peacetime.

This stalemate in prospect thus threatened to force Mr. Truman's hand; Lewis insisting on negotiation; the operators insisting on fact-finding; and the two parties in complete disagreement on "normal" output.

Mr. Truman stated again today that he will not hesitate to invoke the Taft-Hartley act whenever he sees a national emergency.

He told his news conference that his proposal for a voluntary resumption of "normal" coal digging operations during negotiations means in general a five-day work week instead of the three-day week which Lewis has imposed.

Tradition has it that if the sun is shining strong enough for a groundhog to see his shadow on February 2, six weeks of winter are sure to follow. But if the day is cloudy and overcast, get ready for an early spring.

This is the first time in 50 years members of the Punxsutawney groundhog club reported their furry prophet didn't see his shadow.

At Quarryville, members of the Lodge of Slumbering Groundhogs used walky-talky portable radios to flash the forecast. The little animal not only couldn't see his shadow, he could barely see his groundhog neighbors.

The annual ritual was conducted in a pea soup fog. Charles P. Hess, gubernatorial governor of the lodge, declared:

"You couldn't see more than 50 yards."

It is estimated that more than 90 per cent of the energy used in the United States is applied through machinery.

Groundhog Capital Of World Reports Winter Is Over

Punxsutawney, Pa., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Yoda back to the family's woolen underwear, more. Among the groundhogs, the animals who know the weather best, it's unanimous there's going to be an early spring.

That was the news flashed from this groundhog capital. Brier groundhog peered out of his hole at exactly 8:04 a.m., failed to see his shadow and decided it was fine groundhog weather, his followers said.

Over in eastern Pennsylvania at Quarryville, another groundhog capital of the world, observers reported a similar experience for the furry critter.

Tradition has it that if the sun is shining strong enough for a groundhog to see his shadow on February 2, six weeks of winter are sure to follow. But if the day is cloudy and overcast, get ready for an early spring.

This is the first time in 50 years members of the Punxsutawney groundhog club reported their furry prophet didn't see his shadow.

Might End Race For Atomic Arms

Washington, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) today proposed a $50,000,000 American peace crusade, involving economic aid to Russia and other countries, with the aim of "moving heaven and earth to stop the atomic race."

The Connecticut senator, chairman of the joint congressional atomic committee, warned that in Russian hands the projected hydrogen super-bomb "might incinerate 50,000,000 Americans in the space of minutes."

And he told the Senate:

"Let Russians in on it. At almost any cost, we must assure that the Russian people act as part of the world jury which brings in a verdict covering this monumental (atomic) issue."

McMahon said that President Truman's decision to press ahead with development of the H-bomb "was dictated by the severe realities of the world we inhabit today."

"He had no choice, and his decision under present circumstances is right," the senator said.

However, McMahon added that in exchange for this country's $50,000,000 contribution toward world peace, the United States should ask general acceptance of an effective program for international control of atomic energy.

But even before McMahon spoke out on Capitol Hill, President Truman told his news conference he does not propose to use his go-ahead order for development of the H-bomb as the basis for a new move on international atomic control.

Rejection Proposal
Mr. Truman rejected a proposal along that line from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), GOP foreign policy leader.

The president said the American government has repeatedly and continuously made its position clear before the United Nations—that we stand by our demand for tight international control inspections before outlawing atomic weapons, including the H-bomb.

In other alien developments:

1. The White House denied that President Truman has ordered any "gag" banning federal officials from discussing the hydrogen bomb.

2. Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate foreign relations committee said Washington-Moscow attempts to reach agreement on atomic controls have failed and the United Nations should now take the lead in new efforts.

3. Rep. Durham (D-NC), vice chairman of the Senate-House atomic committee, said $200,000,000 might be a reasonable price for producing an H-bomb and "unlocking one of God's own secrets." Previous estimates have ranged as high as $4,000,000,000.

Senator McMahon's sweeping proposal for this country to spend $50,000,000 in the next five years to end the world's "next terrible arms race" met with mixed enthusiasm and reserve among his colleagues.

Inclement Weather Slows Search For Missing Transport

Whitehorse, Y. T., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Foul flying weather today blighted the Far North's biggest aerial search for a missing plane and 44 persons.

Of the dozens of search planes standing ready on air fields along the Alaska highway route, only five from Whitehorse took to the air today to continue the search for the missing C-54 which vanished a week ago with 36 passengers and a crew of eight.

Officers directing the large scale search were losing hope in the possibility of faint radio signals helping in the search. Two planes and two land stations in the Yukon search zone reported hearing the unintelligible signals. Specific attempts to get "fix" on their sources have been fruitless.

CAROL ANN SAYS SHE DIDN'T KNOW SHE SHOT FATHER

Bridgeton, Conn., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Carol Ann Paught, her calmness giving way to choked emotions, tearfully testified today that she couldn't remember killing her 15-year-old father.

The 21-year-old blonde, defending herself against a second degree murder charge with a plea of temporary insanity, testified that she recalled hearing a physician tell her "dad is riddled with cancer."

"That's all I can remember," she said in a low, quivering voice.

With her lawyer, David Goldstein, spacing his questions to give her a chance to control herself, Carol Ann's lips pressed tightly, her hand clutching a white handkerchief—told an all-parent jury in the mercy murder trial that she loved her father, police Sgt. Carl Paught.

"Do you remember shooting your father?" asked Goldstein.

"No," Carol Ann whispered.

It was not until the next day, she said, that her memory began to return. She then was able to recognize, she said, two policemen who had been posted as guards in her hospital room.

Carol Ann, on the stand 22 minutes, took a gold crucifix with her to the witness stand. It was slipped into her hand by her mother.

Hardly had she been sworn in that her calm demeanor had completely for the first time since she went on trial for the Sept. 23 shooting.

WOMEN NEED MORE THAN FLAT GUARANTEE OF EQUAL RIGHTS

From the women's angle few things ought to sound as attractive as a guarantee to them of equal rights set forth in the federal Constitution.

Yet more than 30 national women's groups don't want that kind of a guarantee without a big proviso attached. And labor leaders are on the same side of the fence.

They all wish to be sure that no equal rights clause shall in any way endanger the rights, benefits and exemptions now enjoyed by women under existing state and federal laws.

What this means is that while they believe the principle of equal rights should be proclaimed, it should be recognized that women actually are in need of extra privileges and safeguards. The feeling is that a woman's physical nature and characteristics are enough to justify special status.

On the books today are a wide variety of laws governing wages, hours and conditions of work for women. These include protections for those needing maternity care. In addition, women enjoy alimony rights, dower rights and similar legal advantages partly in recognition of their problems as mothers.

Labor and many women's groups know many of these statutes were won only after bitter struggle. They hesitate, therefore, to endorse an unqualified equal rights clause that might furnish a legal basis for the ultimate destruction of these safeguards.

The Senate has now approved, 63 to 19, a constitutional amendment guaranteeing equal rights to women but stating that the guarantee shall not be construed to impair any present rights women have.

The equal rights' proponents, sensing victory after 27 years of fruitless trying, want the House to kill the extra proviso and leave just a flat guarantee. Offhand their chances don't look too bright, for the weight of labor and the same 30 women's groups will fall upon House lawmakers when they begin debating the proposal.

It seems safest to spell out assurances to women that they will not lose their hard-won protection both at work and in the larger social setting. Maybe this would make the term "equal rights" sound a trifle empty, but we think something would be gained by its mere assertion in the Constitution. Many good principles are modified in practice. That doesn't lessen their value as principles.

Forgotten

Washington, Feb. 2.—P.—President Truman sidestepped today the question of whether he will be a candidate for re-election in 1952.

The matter came up at his news conference during a discussion of a proposed constitutional amendment to change the method of electing presidents.

Mr. Truman said there is no likelihood that it will be in effect in 1952.

A reporter asked Mr. Truman whether he thought the new bill will help you get re-elected in 1952.

The president laughed but avoided a direct answer. He replied that for the information of reporters he does not think the measure will be part of the constitution by the time the next presidential election rolls around.

Murrayville Club Program Centers On Legislation

An interesting program on legislation was presented at the meeting of the Murrayville Domestic Science club, held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Hanback.

The program was given by Mrs. J. L. Solomon, department chairman of law observance and legislation, who had as her topic "Legislative Preview."

The collect was led by Miss Dolly Swagerty and the pledge to the flag by the hostess. Group singing of "America, the Beautiful" followed.

During the business session, presided over by the president, Mrs. H. G. Strang, the group voted donations to the Egyptian Music Camp and the blind babies fund.

Roll call, in keeping with the program theme, was "A Recent Law Enacted in Illinois." Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. S. C. Martin, responded.

The closing feature of the program was an article by Mrs. Vincent H. VanHorn entitled "I Spent a Day With Abe Lincoln."

The next meeting will be held Feb. 15 with Mrs. C. J. Wright.

Rules Assessment Supervisors Can Be Outside County

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 2.—P.—A county assessment supervisor does not have to be a resident of the county in which he is appointed, state revenue director Richard J. Daley said today.

However, Daley said it is "desirable" that the supervisor be a resident of the county where he holds the assessor post.

Daley's comment was made in connection with the nomination of one man for assessment-supervisor in two different counties.

Both the Brown and Schuyler county boards have certified Franklin Garrison for the new job. Garrison lives on a farm near Mt. Sterling, Brown county, and has a law office in Rushville, Schuyler county.

Daley said that "It is evident that he could not serve as assessment supervisor in both counties."

County boards submit lists of three to ten names for the assessor job to the State Revenue Department. The department in turn certifies for appointment those it deems competent.

Has Your Parlor Won A Prize?

BY HAL BOYLE

New York.—P.—Chalk 1950 down as a complete failure for me.

We've missed having our parlor picked as one of the ten best-dressed living rooms in Manhattan.

The selection was made by some housekeeping firm that says it manicures mist of the mansions "listed in the social register"—although I thought the social register catalogued people rather than homes.

The firm said it chose the top ten living rooms from some 500 nominees. And it estimated the value of the furnishings in the lucky winners at about $500,000—or $500,000 a room.

Who were the winners? Well, 960 Fifth avenue (Mrs. John Reed Topping) placed first. The second place living room declined to give its address, but admitted it was owned by Elizabeth Arden, a lady who has notions about lotions.

Then, third, came 550 Park avenue, lived in by Mrs. Danny Kaye, fourth, 20 East 60th street, inhabited by Mrs. Deems Taylor, and fifth, 630 Park avenue, where Mrs. Mary Roberts Rinehart dwells. All the other prize-winning living rooms were from the Tony upper East side except 25 Central Park west, a dark horse entry from the other side of town, in which Ethel Merman sings after supper. It placed eighth.

What worries me is what happens when I go home to 541 East 20th street, apartment 3-B. That is where my living room hangs out.

"What's the matter, do I need my rug lifted?" My room will plead.

"Tell me the truth, is my radiator showing?"

This will go on for days and days, with my living room developing more and more of an interiority complex.

"Oh, you don't have to tell me—I know I'm hopelessly out-of-date," it will sigh. "Just mahogany and old lace—that's me. I've had my day. You should have gotten yourself a younger living room."

Then my living room will begin to brood—and blame me.

And it will go on:

"I found out that those prize-winning living rooms had $50,000 worth of fro-frou in them. You know what you spent on me altogether—$684.33?"

$1,296 Paid In Fox And Wolf Bounties Here

The sum of $1,269 has been paid in fox and wolf bounties in Morgan county during the last three months, County Treasurer Thomas Harber said Thursday.

The treasurer said checks amounting to $90 have been paid for nine wolves, and $1,179 has been paid for 393 foxes, a larger number than last year.

Tuesday, Jan. 31, was the last day on which the county pays the $3 fox bounty. The wolf bounty of $10 each remains in effect. Fox bounties were paid in November, December and January.

Fifty years ago federal taxes amounted to only $3.88 per person. Now it's about $270 a head.

Spareribs Favor Your Budget

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

With pork prices slated budget-wise how about collecting a few delicious recipes on the subject?

From the cooking experts of the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics come these—

Sweet-Sour Spareribs Chinese Style
(Serves 4)

Two pounds spareribs, 14 cups water, 1 cup raisins, 1 tea-spoon salt, 2 green peppers, cut in 6 pieces each, 1½ table-spoons corn-starch, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup vinegar, soy sauce.

Cut spareribs into serving portions and brown in a frying pan over moderate heat—about 5 minutes on each side. Add 1 cup of the water, the raisins and salt. Cover pan tightly and cook over very low heat for 20 minutes. Add green peppers.

Stir in corn-starch blended with sugar, vinegar and 1 cup of water. Cover and continue cooking over low heat for 30 minutes. Stir occasionally and add more water as needed to prevent drying. Before serving add soy sauce to taste.

Baked Spareribs
Bake in a moderate oven (325 degrees F.) until the meat is tender—about 1½ hours. Baste several times with a barbecue sauce.

Still on the budget subject, they give this leftover recipe:

Meat and Macaroni Salad
(Serves 5-6)

Two to 3 cups cooked macaroni, 1 table-spoon chopped onion, 1 cup chopped celery, and leaves, 1 cup chopped cooked ham or beef, salad dressing, salt and pepper to taste. Cut the cold macaroni into small pieces. Mix lightly with the other ingredients. Chill and serve on crisp lettuce.

SUNDAY'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Grapefruit, ready-to-eat cereal, ham omelet, golden muffins, butter or fortified margarine, strawberry jam, coffee, milk.

DINNER: Clear chicken soup with watercress, sweet-sour spareribs, Chinese style, steamed rice, or hominy grits, mixed vegetable salad, French dressing, lemon meringue pie, coffee or tea, milk.

SUPPER: Hard-cooked eggs stuffed with chili, on lettuce, corn bread, butter or fortified margarine, jam, stewed pears, nut cookies, tea, milk.

11 Bids Received On New Waverly School

Waverly—Eleven contractors and building firms are competing for the job of erecting a new consolidated grade school in the Waverly community.

Bids were opened Wednesday afternoon at offices of Barber & Barber in Springfield, attorneys for the board of education. The contract probably will be awarded at a meeting of the board of education next Monday afternoon.

The bids are now being evaluated by Lankton & Ziegele, a Peoria architectural firm which prepared plans for the building.

Forrest Oates, superintendent of Waverly Consolidated Unit 6, said the plans call for 18 classrooms, gymnasium, kitchen and cafeteria. The district includes the city of Waverly and a number of former one room school districts.

The new consolidated school will be built on a ten acre tract directly west of the high school football field, thus placing the high school and grade school in close proximity.

What It Means: Telephone Wire Tapping

Washington—Telephone wire tapping has received so much publicity lately that you might like to know how the tappers operate. Suppose you're an FBI agent and you know that a spy has taken a room in a hotel and that he is likely to be telephoning an accomplice. If you want to listen in, you first must decide whether to ask the hotel management to cooperate.

If it will be a lot easier if you get the manager's help. But maybe you don't want to take a chance on the manager or his employees. They might talk. So you go on your own. You take a room near the spy's room. You "case the joint" to find out where the telephone wires run. Perhaps there's a terminal box in the hall. How to find out which wire is his? You send a fellow agent to the spy's room. He enters with a skeleton key while the spy is out and "puts a tone" on the spy's phone. That means he lifts the receiver and holds a device in front of the mouthpiece which makes a constant sound that you would recognize. Then, with a portable phone you try one wire after another in the box until you find the one making the tone.

You can tap the wire in one of two ways: By making a direct connection—scrapping off the insulation and touching the bare wire with the wire from your headset or by wrapping a coil around the insulated wire and drawing off the current by electrical induction.

After you've found your wire, you make a permanent connection by either of these two methods. Then you lead your wire discretely from the box, tucking it under the tapestry, behind palms, under rugs, etc., until it stretches into your room. Then all you have to do is keep your headpiece to your ear and wait. If you get sleepy you can rig up a little device which will make a clicking sound and wake you up whenever the spy is using his phone.

If you can't find a terminal box or other place where you can get at the spy's line, you might dope out which direction his line runs. Then take a room where his line passes through your walls. You can find out where his wire is by holding an induction coil against the plaster. Work it slowly up and down, oack and forth, until you can hear your colleague "putting a tone" on the phone. After you've located the line, you can make a hole in the wall and connect with the wire.

Can the spy detect whether his line is being tapped? Only if he has a highly technical instrument which can register a slight loss in the volume of sound. However, he'd have to have tested his wire before it was tapped to see what the normal sound volume was.

Some tapping involves an awful lot of work. A Post Office Department inspector working on a mail fraud case once had a policeman tap a wire for weeks, making thousands of mechanical recordings.

The FBI says it is now tapping about 170 telephones in internal security cases. This is only a small percentage of the total number of cases on which the FBI is at work, but it is still a lot of tapping.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

THE LONE EAGLE of 1927 was Charles Augustus Lindbergh, an obscure airmail and barnstorming pilot who overnight became America's top hero. The whole world waited breathless when Lindy took off from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., on that morning of May 20, 1927, and headed his plane, the "Spirit of St. Louis," toward Paris, fame and fortune. The drama of the handsome young flier tackling the broad Atlantic alone in a tiny monoplane captured the world's imagination. On the evening of May 21, word flashed to the world that he had landed near Paris, totally unprepared for the wild reception that greeted him there. "We made it," said the quiet, modest flier whom other pilots called "Slim." "We" meant Lindy and the plane, which thereafter became a personality in its own right.

Figures Settle Height Dispute

Denver—P—Recently a burst of regional pride spurred a bunch of folks in Colorado's San Luis Valley to fly right in the face of the slide rule moneys and boldly nominate their favorite peak, Mont Blanca, as the highest in Colorado.

Sorry, but 'taint so, said the U. S. Geological Survey. It had the figures to show Blanca is 14,316 feet high—not 14,464 as established by a pioneer surveyor. Furthermore it added, four other Colorado mountains are taller than Blanca.

ENTIRE SPRINGFIELD FAMILY USING THIS SPLENDID MEDICINE

"Mother, father and I are all using Rentox," writes Mrs. L. Stremmel, 852 W. Washington St. "I am in better health than I have been in years and am telling all of my friends about Rentox. For some time I have been suffering from arthritis, my arms and hands would hurt so badly I couldn't sleep at night. I also had trouble with my gall bladder and was so sick at my stomach in the morning that I couldn't eat anything without having it form gas. I heard about Rentox and decided to try it. Before finishing the first bottle I noticed a difference, my fingers stopped getting numb and I was no longer sick to my stomach. Mother was suffering from neuritis and father bloated so much that by evening he was in great discomfort. They are both taking Rentox and it has helped them in so many ways."

26 INGREDIENTS
Rentox contains 26 splendid ingredients—herbs, plant extracts, iron and other medicinal agents.
By eliminating toxic poisons from the system, so-called rheumatic and arthritic pains are eliminated. Run down feeling, lack of vitality and pep are relieved. Helps kidneys and bladder too. Stops getting up nights.
Rentox will not grip, nauseate or make you sick on the slightest degree. It can be taken by every member of the family. Relieves constipation in a few hours and tones the bowels into a more rhythmic action.
Why not go to your druggist and ask for a bottle of Rentox today? Be sure you get the genuine Rentox.

The advance started in mid-morning after the market got off to a wavering start.

He warned against the "creeping power of socialism and communism in America." The speaker pointed to the federal control of monetary policies, the proposed valley authorities, present high taxes, and social medicine as signs of this trend.

Lt. Governor Morris urged the Kiwanians to take an active stand in favor of the free enterprise system.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT
Chicago, Feb. 2.—(AP)—While grains were plunging today, hogs reached a new high since last October and lambs a new peak since last August. The latter division was 25 cents higher, hogs were steady to 25 cents up, and cattle were generally steady.

Barrows and gilts in general made $15.00 to $17.75 but the peak of the hog market was $17.85. Sows brought $12.75 to $15.25. Clearance was fairly good.

In the cattle alleys a part-load of high-good steers merited $30.00, but otherwise the run consisted mostly of medium and good steers and yearlings at $22.00 to $28.00 and comparable heifers at $22.00 to $26.50. Cows ranged downward from $18.50, sausage bulls from $21.50 generally, beef bulls from $19.50, and vealers from $33.00. Steer and yearling feeders of medium and good grade fetched $21.75 to $24.25.

Woolled lambs showing good and choice sold from $25.00 to $25.50, the top, while clipped lambs peaked at $24.00, yearlings at $21.00 and ewes at $13.50.

Receipts included an estimated 11,000 hogs, 4,000 cattle, 400 calves, and 4,000 sheep.

CHICAGO GRAINS TAKE A BEATING
Chicago, Feb. 2.—(AP)—All grains took a beating on the Board of Trade today. Losses ranged to nearly 5 cents at times in Rye, which was the weakest cereal.

The market had a ragged appearance at the start, suffered a mid-morning sinking spell and then sold off again late in the day, reaching new lows. Trading volume picked up sharply on the declines.

Early selling appeared based mainly on a slight pick-up in country offerings of cash grain this week.

A new selling movement followed news that Senator Williams (R-De) planned to introduce a bill in congress today calling for immediate repeal of the 90 per cent of parity support law, substituting support of a flexible parity basis.

Receipts were: wheat 22 cars, corn 113, oats 16, rye 19, barley 13, soybeans 4.

New seasonal lows were made by all rye deliveries as well as September and December wheat and corn. May wheat sank to a new low since last October.

Wheat closed 24-41 lower, March $2.13 1/2, corn was 1 to 1 1/2 lower, March $1.26, oats were 4-11 lower, March 71 1/2, rye was 31-41 lower, May $1.28 1/2, soybeans were 1-2 1/2 lower, March $2.28 1/2-2.28, and lard was 3 to 5 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $10.40.

WINTER on the FARM
Winter makes a fairyland of the farm of Alfred Brouillette near Waterville, N. Y. The century-old buildings look frozen. Tempo of activity does slow down, but life goes on . . .

Brouillette uses ax, sledge, wedge to prepare log for fuel.

One of five Brouillette children, Alfred helps with the milking.

Schooling goes on, too, and young Brouillettes hit the road.

Outside the mercury reads 10 below zero, but it's cozy and warm in Brouillette living room.

Unknowns Head Long List Of Pros In Golf Tourney

Tucson, Ariz., Feb. 2.—Two unknowns shot the best competitive golf of their lives today to take a one-stroke lead in the $10,000 Tucson Open.
Wally Ulrich, Minneapolis, and Manuel De La Torre, Chicago, have never won a major tournament but they led the game's biggest names with six-under par 64's tonight.
A recent stroke behind the newcomers to the tournament are Tom Fox, Penna., Cincinnati, O., and George Buck, Westport, Conn.

Grouped behind this pair are seven others with four-under par 66's. Included in the co-favorite Jimmy Demaret of Olaj, Calif.
Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the other favorite got off to a shaky start. The veteran steadied and finished one under par with 69.
The short and easy 6402-yard par 70 El Rio course didn't take the beating that was expected. Even so, 47 pros broke par. An additional 16 equalled regulation figures.
De La Torre has only played in three tournaments since he turned pro three years ago. He failed to finish in the Montebello, Calif., meet last year. Last week he was out of the money at Phoenix.
The Chicago golfer had planned to drop the tournament swing after this meet. He may now continue.
Ulrich said his score was thrilling. "Certainly it's the best I've ever done,"

Ralph Kiner Signs Two-Year Contract For $65,000 Per

Los Angeles, Feb. 2.—P.—Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh's home-run clouting outfielder, was signed today to a two-year contract at $65,000 a year.
General Manager Roy Hamey made the announcement at the conclusion of a brief conference with the 27-year-old Kiner, who hit 54 home runs—six behind Babe Ruth's all-time mark—last season.
At Kiner's insistence, it did not include a bonus clause.
"I want a straight contract," the rangy slugger told reporters earlier.
For Hamey, it was the second big deal in three days. On Tuesday, he paid $100,000 for baseball rights to Paul Pettit, 18-year-old Lomita, Calif., pitcher, just out of high school. It was a record for a new-comer.
Kiner received $40,000 last year, for which he batted .310 and drove in 127 runs. It was his best season, but he said today: "I think I've at least eight good years left."

Comerford Leads Winchester VFW To 91-45 Win

Winchester — Tom Comerford, Winchester VFW forward, paced his independent five to a top-sided 91-45 victory over the invading White Hall Indians here last night.
Comerford scored 24 points for the host outfit. Hankins followed with 21. Blunker, White Hall, racked up 21 points, also.
The Winchester VFW B squad downed their cross-town rivals, the Winchester Hot-Shots, 32-31 in a preliminary thriller.

Predict Speedy Runs At Ski Meet

Rumford, Me., Feb. 2.—P.—Fast times were predicted today for snow frosted the 16-kilometer trail over which 38 of the world's finest cross-country skiers will seek championship honors tomorrow.
Sieg Berman, technical advisor for the meet, said one hour and eight minutes would be good time. Skiers from nine nations will compete on the Chisholm Ski Club course.
No record can be broken because it will be the first world's championship test of the 11-mile trail. Each used in the past has its own mark.

Carrollton, White Hall Reach Finals In Greene

Greenfield—Defending champion Carrollton and the White Hall Ma-rions reached the finals of the annual Greene county tournament here last night.
Carrollton dumped the Greenfield hosts 38-31 in the first semi-final encounter and White Hall smeared Rodhouse 42-29 in the second.
Carrollton and White Hall meet for the championship tonight with Rodhouse and Greenfield meeting for consolation honors in the preliminary.

Decatur's Duel With Springfield To Top Weeks Card

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 2.—P.—Decatur's duel with Springfield is one of the standout attractions on a weekend card offering comparatively light tests for most Illinois prep basketball favorites.
Elsewhere in the vicinity the small school teams are tuning up for the coming district tournament, which will get rolling Feb. 21 at Meredosia.

Bucky Harris Calls Luke Easter Top Rookie In '50

Washington, Feb. 2.—P.—Bucky Harris, who is saddled with Washington's sad senators for 1950, cast a wistful look towards Cleveland's Luke Easter today.
The Nat's pilot foresees a great year for the big Negro rookie. In fact Bucky thinks Luke probably will be the American League's top rookie of 1950.
Harris managed San Diego last year and had Easter as his first baseman. He fully expects to see "Luscious Luke" hitting 25 homers in 1950, driving home 100 runs and setting a batting mark of .325.
Bucky, who has the forlorn task of reviving the cellar-dwelling Washingtons, wistfully reviewed Easter's activities in the Pacific Coast league last season.
Luke who stands six-feet-four and weighs 240, walloped 25 home runs, drove in 92 runs and piled up a .363 batting average with San Diego in 80 days of activity. Following this stint he went to Cleveland for a knee operation. He didn't return to the Pacific coast but his knee is reportedly just like new now.
Out west Luke spent lots of time in the outfield, but Harris said he expects the tribe to shift him to first base. "That's easily his natural position," said Harris.
What's more Bucky thinks Luke would have a good chance to take over from last season's regular first sacker Mickey Vernon.
Harris doesn't think he's overly optimistic with Easter because he thinks Luke won't have any trouble with big league pitching.

Train Hits Broken Rail, Rolls Over; 1 Killed, 15 Hurt

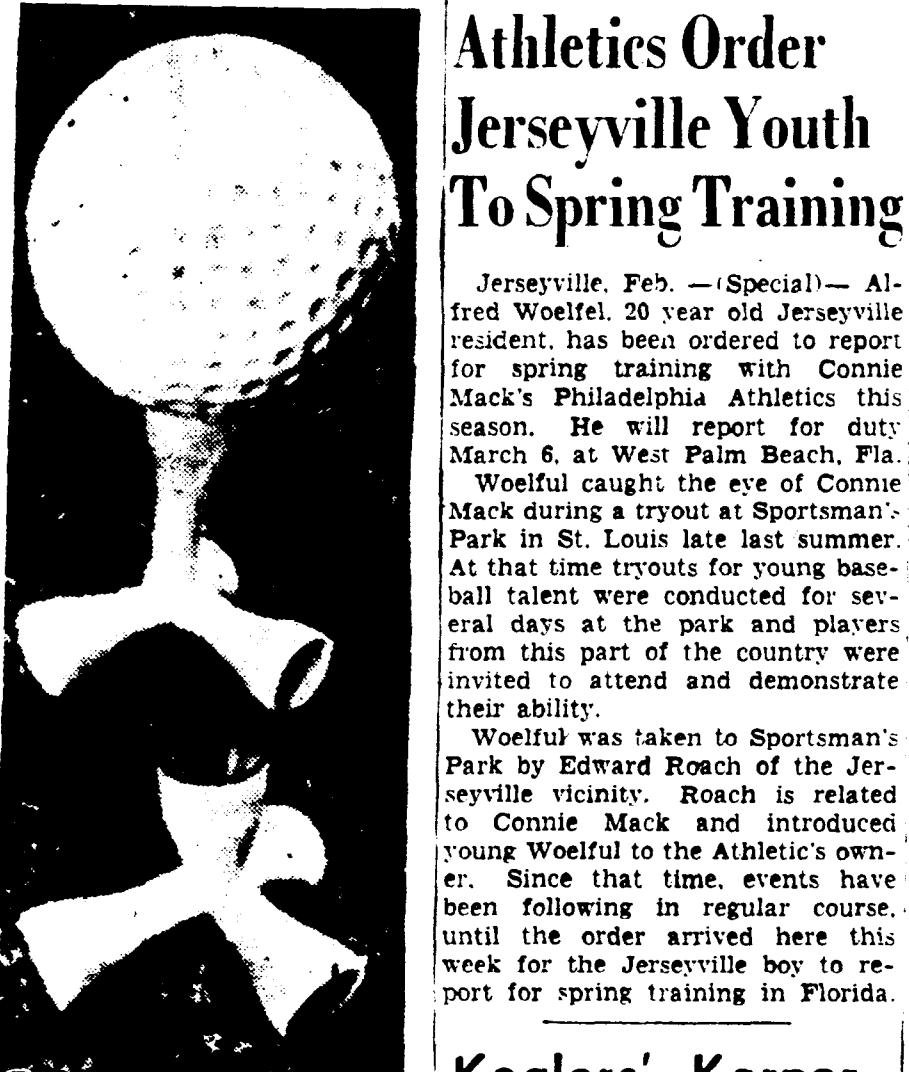

Saukville, Wis., Feb. 2.—P.—One man was killed tonight when the Milwaukee road's southbound Chippewa Hiawatha struck a broken rail and rolled over four miles north of here.
Wrecking crews found the body under one of the streamliner's overturned coaches. Three other persons were seriously injured in the wreck which occurred about 7:30 p.m. CST.
The road reported that between 12 and 15 persons were taken to a hospital in nearby Port Washington. One of the seriously injured passengers suffered severe steam burns. The dead man and those seriously injured have not been identified.
Three coaches, a diner and a parlor car rolled completely over. The engine remained upright and a baggage car left the rails, but did not overturn, the road's Green Bay office said.
Engineer M. L. McFarland of Green Bay said the rail snapped as the engine passed over it. The streamliner was en route from Oronogo, Mich., to Milwaukee. Saukville is about 30 miles north of Milwaukee.

The Centennial Turf Club of Denver will not conduct its first meeting until July 4 but it already holds a record—it has a 40-man board of directors.

FAN BREEZES BY BOB MERRIS

The injury jinx that bedeviled Al Miller's football squad at midseason is back on the job at the halfway mark of the Blueboy cage slate. With half—and the toughest half—of their conference schedule to play, the local collegians face a rough weekend end up north minus all-conference guards Bob Grove and Bill Shouse. The Elmhurst and Wheaton tussles on the road this weekend could well spell the difference between a successful season or a so-so mark for the Blueboys.

As for the high school program: we're anxious to see the results of the Jacksonville-Winchester fracas this evening. E. Posey's Wildcats have been coming right along lately and should pose a tough hurdle for the Crimsons who must improve considerably in a short while if they're to make an impression in the upcoming Virginia regional.
Routt meets a team tonight that might well be its opponent in a Meredosia district tournament test. Eldon Atwood's Chambersburg outfit is like an hotel room shower —

Eddie Waitkus Asks $4,000 For Medical Expenses

Philadelphia, Feb. 2.—P.—Baseball player Eddie Waitkus today sought to collect $4,000 in medical expenses from an insurance company for the bullet wound inflicted by a Chicago girl last June.
The Philadelphia Phillies' first baseman and his attorney, R. Sturgis Ingersoll, appeared before the Pennsylvania State Workmen's compensation board. Referees John Alessandrini and John A. Sheldrake heard the testimony. The board ruling is expected in about a month.
Waitkus' attorney contended the player was acting in the interests of "public relations" for the Phillies when he visited Ruth Ann Steinbagen in her room at the Edgewater Beach hotel in Chicago last June 14.

John B. Carter, representing the Travelers Insurance Co., argued that Waitkus' contract required him to get permission from Manager Eddie Sawyer, or another club official to make a personal appearance on behalf of the club.
Waitkus admitted he went to the girl's room about midnight at her request and had not asked permission.
He told again of talking with the girl on the telephone, entering her room in the belief she was from his home town in Massachusetts, and how she shot him with a 22 caliber rifle.
Waitkus has recovered from the injury and has signed a contract for the 1950 season.
Insurance companies are vitally interested in the case since it involves the question:

Athletics Order Jerseyville Youth To Spring Training

Jerseyville, Feb. —(Special)—Alfred Woolfel, 20 year old Jerseyville resident, has been ordered to report for spring training with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics this season. He will report for duty March 6 at West Palm Beach, Fla.
Woolfel caught the eye of Connie Mack during a tryout at Sportsman's Park in St. Louis late last summer. At that time tryouts for young baseball talent were conducted for several days at the park and players from this part of the country were invited to attend and demonstrate their ability.
Woolfel was taken to Sportsman's Park by Edward Roach of the Jerseyville vicinity. Roach is related to Connie Mack and introduced young Woolfel to the Athletics' owner. Since that time, events have been following in regular course, until the order arrived here this week for the Jerseyville boy to report for spring training in Florida.

Says Catching Big Fish Is Luck; Bans Fishing Contest

Washington, Feb. 2.—P.—The nation's 13,500,000 fishermen got a kick in the pants today from an unexpected source. The postoffice department ruled that catching a fish isn't an art—it's just plain luck.
The postmaster at Hyannis, Mass., got the postoffice department muddled in this business.
He said that the Cape Cod Anglers, Inc., wanted to use the mails to promote a fishing contest. It was charging $1 an entry and was giving prizes to those who hauled in the big ones.
Did this violate the postoffice regulations? The Hyannis postmaster wondered. For he knew that the mails are barred for schemes in whole or in part upon lot or chance.
The postoffice solicitor, Frank J. Delany, had his answer all ready for Cape Cod, Inc. He said that since an entry fee was being charged, the scheme was a lottery.
Obviously no fisherman, Delany added:
"The size of the fish caught is a matter of chance."

Runaway Girl, 13, Takes Back Story Of Rape By Man

Chicago, Feb. 2.—P.—A 13-year-old runaway girl took back today her story that she was raped by a truck driver in his apartment.
Elaine Dibold of Valparaiso, Ind., cleared Philip Hagel, 30, the truck driver, by her testimony. Judge Charles S. Dougherty dismissed a rape charge against him in Felony Court.
Elaine told the court Hagel found her sleeping in a Chicago bus station Jan. 3 and took her to his apartment. She said she had run away from her Valparaiso home.
She related that she fled from Hagel's apartment Jan. 4 because she was afraid Hagel planned to send her back to Valparaiso.
She said she had run away from home several times and did not want to go back.
In her earlier story the girl told police Hagel raped her Jan. 4 after to him by clients to buy grain his futures.

AMA Says Scarcity Of Rare Drugs Is Perhaps Fortunate

Chicago, Feb. 2.—P.—The American Medical Association's council on pharmacy and chemistry said today "It is perhaps fortunate" that neither acth nor cortisone is available in unlimited quantities.
"In the present state of our knowledge it would be extremely undesirable to permit the widespread use of these potent preparations in the routine practice of medicine," the council said.
Acth and cortisone are extremely scarce hormones which have been dramatically effective in controlling more than a half dozen lingering diseases.
The council said in a report in the AMA journal:
"While it has been shown beyond doubt that cortisone and acth often provide prompt and dramatic relief in arthritis, gout, psoriasis, erythema, toxemia, skin disease, myasthenia gravis, a muscular ailment, and other diseases the improvement usually is maintained only as long as the administration of the drug is continued. Although chronic toxicity studies are far from complete, it already has been established that the continuous administration of either preparation over a long period often cannot be tolerated."
Gene Sarazen has played in more PGA championships than any other golfer—26 through 1946.

Injury, Flu Riddled Blueboys Travel North For Important Contests

Hard put to get back into the thick of the Little Nine cage race the Illinois College Blueboys travel northward this weekend minus the services of the injured Bob Grove and with several other hardwood stand-bys on the doubtful list because of sore throats, flu and sprained limbs.
Besides Grove, who will not even make the trip because of a shoulder hurt suffered two weeks ago, Coach Miller was given cause for nerves when Bill Shouse, all-conference guard, came down with a bad throat Thursday morning. He will move north with the Blueboys but will not see any action against Elmhurst tonight and may be sidelined for the Wheaton struggle Saturday.
Others on the sick list include Howie DeGroot, who is still nursing a shoulder injury sustained in the Mullikin scrap, and Paul Lasley down with the flu. Valuable reserves, both boys will make the trip, but like Shouse, will see very limited action.
Jim Kinsell, promising freshman, is also in bed with the flu and will not make the trip.
Miller Names Starters
Miller named starting lineup for the Elmhurst bout tonight: Barney Vilk and Bill Gross, forwards; Bob Murrin, center; Dave Billings and Don Longer, guard. Only two healthy substitutes will be available: freshman Lou Meiers and Glenn Hendricks.
Despite their riddled squad, the Blueboys should find little trouble at Elmhurst. The hapless Bluejay bunch has won only three out of 10 contests this year and has yet to be realized a single CCI conference victory. The Miller men lashed Elmhurst severely on the I.S.D. court last season.
The big test for the Blueboys will come on Saturday night when they attempt to upset the heavily favored Wheaton Crusaders.
Wheaton has the same won-lost record as the Blueboys, 11-5. But most of the opposition faced by Wheaton is tougher than the local collegians have confronted. In Little Nine conference play Coach Ed Coray's athletes have bested Lake Forest and Illinois Wesleyan while losing to James Millikin. That record is also identical with the Blueboys' league card.
Bud Schaeffer, the Crusaders' expert ball-handler, has been an all-conference choice for three consecutive years. Another all-league ace boasted by the Coray five is Marv Johnson, a 6-3 junior who has been top scorer in the conference for two seasons. Johnson has smashed practically every individual scoring record at Wheaton in the past two years.
Other starters on the Crusader club include sophomore Dick Messner and freshman Dick Gross, who

Cardinals Protest Pirates' Signing Of Schoolboy

New York, Feb. 2.—P.—The unique case of Pittsburgh's $100,000 schoolboy pitcher has provoked a protest from the St. Louis Cardinals and smoldering resentment in other quarters.
Owner Fred Saigh of the Cards pulled no punches. He said he was going straight to Commissioner A. B. Chandler with a claim that Pittsburgh's signing of 18-year-old Paul Pettit of Los Angeles was "an outrageous violation" of the high school rule.
Pittsburgh didn't sign Pettit until Tuesday after the young southpaw was graduated from high school. However, the boy previously signed a personal service contract with a Hollywood movie producer, Frederick Stephani. The Pirates made their deal with Stephani.
When Stephani signed Pettit, he still was in high school. No baseball club is permitted to approach a boy still in school. Of course, it can't stop a movie producer, agent or any other non-baseball man from carrying on his own business.
In Versailles, Ky., Commissioner Chandler said he expected to receive a report from Dick Butler, his special agent, in New York this weekend.
"I had Butler in California for two weeks, investigating the boy's contract with the movie man," said Chandler. "I am sure he knows all the facts about this case. If he was quoted in California as saying the contract apparently violated no rule in baseball, I am sure that is the case."

Dying Confession Has No Meaning For 'Absolved' GI

New Windsor, Md., Feb. 2.—P.—The ex-sergeant that Andrew Blasko's dying confession was supposed to "clear" said today "I don't know what the poor kid was talking about." Blasko, a legless veteran, dictated his "confession" to a news photographer yesterday as he lay pinned beneath the wreckage of his car. Having had his say, Blasko, 25, shot himself to death.
Charles C. Lemmon, who runs a tavern here, said he must be the one whom Blasko's eerie "Confession" was to "clear."
The Norfolk, Va., ex-serviceman, who lost both legs in Germany, "confessed" he had spread reports about "Sgt. Lemons" flogging German prisoners, stealing out on his platoon. These things Blasko told Danville photographer John Tate, were not true.
Lemmon said apart from the fact that they weren't true, he had never heard of Blasko saying them. Though a "good boy" while serving with him, he must "have become a psycho," Lemmon declared.

Help Sought
At a recent meeting of the Board of Education for Unit District No. 27, it was decided to encourage the selection of this Self Survey committee to make a thorough study of the schools and their present buildings, in cooperation with the bureau of research in the department of education at the University of Illinois. In selecting the committee members, the board of education chose four members: each Parent-Teacher organization at Arenzville, Concord, Chapin, and Meredosia elected one member; and these eight selected the remaining four members.

Those selected were as follows: Edward Clark, Mrs. John Clark, and A. C. Hart from the Arenzville community; Edwin Dietrich, Tom Crawford and Gus Valer from the Concord area; Edward Miedendorf, Carlton Schumacher, and Mrs. Verne Smith from Chapin; and Dr. Griebler, Jim McCormick, and John Keopman from Meredosia.

Sub-Committees Chosen
During the organization meeting the members established five sub-committees to explore the following areas: The Community and Its People; The Education Program; The People Want "Finances"; "Pre-School Buildings"; and "Publicity." Additional members will be added to these sub-committees in order to facilitate the work.

Board President Warren Brockhouse, in addressing the joint groups, pointed out the need for the schools to prepare future plans for the schools within the district, and emphasized the point that the job was too big for any small group to decide.

"All possible resources should be utilized in making the study," he asserted.

Mr. Landes, from the University of Illinois, mentioned that similar committees of interested citizens were being organized over the state to actually plan the type of a school system which these communities want, and to be of service to boards of education in interpreting the plans and ideas from all people within the school district.

As the findings and recommendations of the general committee are approved, they will be submitted to the University's Bureau of Research for further study, and in turn passed on to the local board of education.

The couple will reside at Roodhouse where the groom is employed by the G. M. and O. railroad and the bride by the Illinois Telephone company.

Begin Survey To Find How Many New Nurses Needed

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Major nursing and health groups in Illinois have begun a survey to determine how many new nurses will be needed to staff the state's rapidly expanding health program.

"More nurses must be found to staff the new hospitals and health centers being built with funds from the hospital survey and construction act," Miss Emily C. Cardew, president of the Illinois State League of Nursing Education, said today.

There now are 21,500 active registered nurses in Illinois and 90 accredited schools of nursing. The survey will seek to show whether the number of student nurses is increasing or decreasing and what steps may be taken to augment the nursing supply to meet mounting demands.

Illinois has received $3,752,000 from the federal government for construction of 11 projects. Some of the projects already are underway. Six additional projects have been approved tentatively by the public health service.

Miss Cardew said the survey will last three months. An appraisal will also be made of the present system of nursing education to see if it is meeting state needs.

The survey committee, called the committee on the improvement of nursing services in Illinois, is sponsored by the University of Illinois and 12 state health groups.

Salt Consumption Regulates Protein Ration For Steers

Washington, Feb. 3.—Common ordinary salt promises to save stockmen thousands—and perhaps millions—of days labor a year feeding beef cattle.

Under feeding practices now in use, it is necessary to feed cattle daily to keep them from being starved. Under tests made by the agricultural department at Woodward, Okla., in cooperation with the Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station, salt was added to cottonseed meal fed to steers as a supplement for grass they obtained from the range.

One pound of salt to four pounds of meal proved effective in regulating the consumption of meal to two pounds a head daily.

Under this method, it was possible to place an unlimited supply of the salt and cottonseed meal mixture in feeding bins or troughs at one time and leave the cattle to ration themselves to the desired amount each day. It was not necessary to make daily feedings.

Animals, like humans, tend to require certain minimum amounts of salt. Usually, this is supplied them in the form of blocks of hard salt placed where the animals can lick it whenever they desire it.

In the feed mixture, the salt's chief purpose is to keep the animal from overeating. Tests show that the average steer will stop eating the meal when he has consumed about half a pound of salt a day.

The department says blood tests of the animals showed no evidence of any adverse effects as a result of any heavy amounts of salt consumed.

Still unanswered, however, is the question of whether very much salt would adversely affect the quality of the beef. Animal experts are inclined to believe there would be no bad effect if the animals were assured of plenty of water. A heavy salt diet tended to increase the animals' thirst.

The Polish students expressed a desire to enter into school correspondence with the Lafayette school.

Y. Secretary Paul Hartman Reviews 1949 Advances

Ten important steps forward for the Jacksonville Y.M.C.A. in the past year were reviewed by Paul T. Hartman, general secretary, in his annual report given Jan. 26, 1949. The first year in the city for Mr. Hartman, his wife and their three children.

The good will and cooperation of other agencies has been of great benefit to the Y, he pointed out. The organization has been aided by the schools and churches; the Red Cross, which furnished swimming instructors; the park board, which allowed the swimming pool to be used free of charge; and the Community Chest. Drawing its funds from the Chest, the Y. finished its work in 1949 with a favorable balance and all bills paid.

Women Serve On Board
Mr. Hartman mentioned the increased efficiency gained by the new membership and personnel policies. Another innovation was that two women served on the board of directors, Miss Amelia DeMotte and Mrs. Karl Baker.

Since the Y.M.C.A. is not just a local group but a national one, he listed participation in area youth conferences as another of the year's gains. He further stated that Dr. McClelland served as the first delegate to the national council.

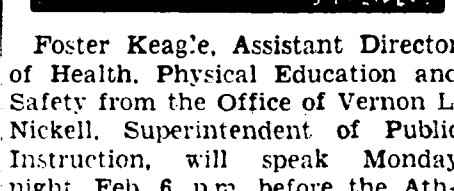

The Y. was a pioneer in the field of camping and started Camp Dudley, the first of its kind, in New York state; so in accordance with its policies, 31 boys and girls were sent last year to summer camps.

Parents Take Part
The participation of parents of junior high students in junior high night at the Youth Center originated here in 1949. It tends toward greater comradeship and understanding between those parents and their children.

Basketball for young men, another premise of the organization, was not begun here until last year's tournament gave it a successful start.

Twenty-nine elected representatives served on their own youth planning councils for junior high and high school students and young adults for the first time last year. Mr. Hartman, the adviser of the groups, selected this method of helping them assume responsibility for their own programs and activities, one of his most important duties in leading them toward a secure independence and emotional maturity.

First Applicants For Assessment Supervisor Okayed

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 2.—(P)—The State Revenue department today approved the first group of applicants for appointment under the new county assessment supervisor law.

The department certified 39 candidates for the jobs in eight downstate counties. The final selection from the approved list will be made by county boards in Bureau, Calhoun, Crawford, Jefferson, Pike, Pope, Moultrie and Shelby counties.

Nine candidates for the eight appointments were rejected by the department because they lacked "qualifying experience," Director Richard J. Daley said.

The department is processing more than 500 additional applications from other counties in the state.

The supervisor will direct property tax assessments. The present elected township assessors become his deputies. The new officers also have the authority formerly held by boards of review to revise individual assessments.

Names of those approved today were not announced by the department.

Under the law, which applies to all counties except Cook and St. Clair, each county board submits a list of three to 10 names to the department for the assessment supervisor position.

Ohio To Put Out License Tags Of 3 Letter Words

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 2.—(P)—If you see a cockeyed auto license tag after March 1, you can bet its owner is from Ohio.

Tags, for example, reading "Ham" or "Egg," "Cat" or "Rat," "Pet" or "Hug," "Cad" or "Cur."

The State bureau of motor vehicles offered 13,824 three-letter license plates to Ohio motorists today. By noon today, more than 3,000 had been snapped up and the bureau still was swamped with applicants in person and on the phone.

The special licenses cost $1 extra and can be displayed on cars after March 1. Ohio 1950 licenses do not go into use until then.

All the letters of the alphabet are available, except two. They are "I" and "O," which are banned because they can be confused with the numerals "1" and "0."

The three-letter tags are a sort of going-away present from Frank M. Quinn, registrar of motor vehicles. He resigns Feb. 15 to run for state treasurer.

Ohio, since 1935, has issued one and two-letter auto tags, the owners of which reserved them from year to year. A total of 85,000, many with numerals mixed in, had been reserved for 1950.

Scott County Farmers Hear Legume Benefits

Winchester—In 1948 Scott county farmers planted 83,000 acres to soil depleting crops, only 16,000 acres of legumes and legume-grass mixtures. "This acreage of legumes for soil building purposes must be tripled in the next few years here if Scott county farmers expect to follow a sound and permanent system of soil management," declared Farm Adviser M. H. Banner when he spoke at the Legion Home Wednesday night.

The meeting opened the extension service's legume-grass program. Two other speakers emphasized the need and the benefits of a well-balanced conservation program.

Backbone Of Control
Ray Johnson, local soil conservation, pointed out that "legumes and grasses are the backbone of an erosion control program."

"They provide protective cover for sloping fields, and we have plenty of them in Scott county. By adding organic matter and improving soil tilth they reduce erosion caused by such row crops as corn," Mr. Johnson declared.

John L. Moore of the Scott PMA committee, spoke of the role legumes and grasses play in the crop adjustment program. Current PMA conservation practices designed to help the new program include grass waterways, improvement or establishment of permanent pasture, green manure crops and the use of limestone, phosphate and mixed fertilizers.

Landlords, Tenants Attend
More than 80 persons attended. Several landlords were present and some of them expressed a desire to work with their tenants in developing a program that will make it possible to reduce cash grain acreage.

New York Central Fined For Speeding Through Hammond

Hammond, Ind., Feb. 2.—(P)—City Judge Thomas W. Callahan imposed fines totaling $150 on the New York Central railroad today for six alleged violations of an ordinance fixing a speed limit of 25 miles an hour on trains passing through Hammond.

The police department has been attempting enforcement of the ordinance recently and last Tuesday the Pennsylvania railroad was fined $120 for alleged violations.

Traffic Lt. Mike Vinovich testified that two police squad cars were stationed along the right-of-way a half mile apart and by radio communication and with stop watches timed six New York Central trains passing through at speeds of 75 to 85 miles an hour.

Owen Crumacker, attorney for the railroad, presented a plea of guilty for the company but pointed out that it was the first time in 15 years that enforcement of the ordinance had been attempted.

Deputy Prosecutor Joseph Meszar told the court about 15,000 persons, many of them school children, have to cross the railroad tracks each day.

Connie Ryan Weds Verne Bergschneider

Couple United In Church Rites At Franklin

Sacred Heart church at Franklin was the scene of a lovely wedding ceremony Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Connie Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ryan of Franklin, became the bride of Verne Bergschneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bergschneider of Alexander.

The double-ring rites were performed by Rev. Father Michael Kearns, who was also celebrant of the nuptial Mass which followed. A J. Spreen and Bill Hoecker were the acolytes.

Miss Emma Bergschneider, sister of the bridegroom, was soloist, with Miss Grace Armstrong as accompanist. A fifteen-minute organ prelude and the traditional wedding marches were played by Miss Armstrong.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. A. J. Bergschneider of Alexander, sister-in-law of the bridegroom. Misses Rosemary Cosgriff and Marge Ring of this city were bridesmaids. The flower girl was little Shirley Kindred.

Attended By Brothers
J. A. Bergschneider was best man, with Ernest Bergschneider and Bob Bergschneider, all brothers of the bridegroom, as groomsmen. Ushers were Gayle McEvers and J. E. Ryan. The rings were carried by James Johnson III.

Fashioned of white slipper satin and Vincennes lace, the gown worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was designed with a shadow-sheer yoke of marquisette, giving an off-shoulder appearance to the tightly-fitted bodice, long sleeves and full skirt, made en train.

A seed pearl crown held the finger veil of French illusion. As her only jewelry, the bride wore a rhinestone necklace, gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white prayer book, topped with an orchid.

Gowns of Blue
Identically styled, the gowns of the bridal attendants were blue satin, with marquisette overskirts trimmed in satin. They wore matching headbands.

A blue satin gown was also worn by the flower girl. The ring bearer wore a white suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

A wedding breakfast for members of the bridal party and the immediate families was held at the Dunlap hotel, followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

For receiving the guests, the bride's mother wore gray, complemented with a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother chose black. Her corsage was also of red roses.

Serving at the reception were the Misses Barbara McEvers, Anne Sweet, Shirley Glossip, Jean Heber, Patricia Cooney and Nancy Gleason.

Leave For California
Upon returning from a wedding trip through California, the couple will reside near Alexander, where Mr. Bergschneider is engaged in farming.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bergschneider are graduates of Routh high school. Mr. Bergschneider attended St. Benedict college at Atchison, Kan. Mrs. Bergschneider, an accomplished musician, was formerly employed in the laboratory of Our Saviour's hospital.

Their wedding marks the third in the family to take place on Tuesday, Jan. 31. The others were Mrs. Mary Kumele, who was married 56 years ago on that day, and the bride's parents, who observed their 22nd anniversary.

Public Rejects Art Critics

New York—P.—The art-viewing public, snubbed the art critics in choosing its favorite painting from an exhibit of 100 French and American canvases here.

The people's choice was a painting by Laurence Sasson, Worcester, Mass. It had been ranked in the fourth-to-10th place category by the judges. Conway, a 49-year-old art teacher and Sasson is a 21-year-old art student.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

Q. My husband died several years ago and shortly after his death, I received a lump-sum benefit. Since then, I have become 65 and am now receiving my widow's monthly benefits. What I would like to know is, who will receive the lump-sum after my death?

A. There will be no lump-sum payment to be made after your death. The law provides that a lump-sum payment may be made after a wage-earner's death if he is not survived by anyone who is eligible to receive monthly benefits in the month of his death. However, no lump-sum is payable on the death of any persons other than the wage earner himself.

Q. I am not yet 65, but I have worked under social security ever since it started. This summer I had an accident and won't be able to work for at least six months. Can I draw on by social security while I am off?

A. The Social Security Act does not make any provision for payments to a worker while he is disabled, unless he is 65 years of age. In the event that you are off work after you become 65, you will be able to receive benefits, but disability has no bearing upon your eligibility.

Q. I would like to know more about social security than I do and am unable to find out much about it. Don't you have a pamphlet or booklet of some sort that explains it? A. Yes, we have a pamphlet called No. 35, which explains old-age and survivors insurance. It is available at every social security office without charge.

NOTE: A representative from the Springfield Social Security Office is in Jacksonville every Thursday morning from 10 to 12. He is located at the Employment Office on Morristan street.

White Hall Youth Conduct Contest For Polio Drive

White Hall—W. J. Ritchey, chairman of the March of Dime campaign, has announced he expects the current drive to exceed by a large amount the money collected last year.

The boys and girls in the junior high held a contest, the girls having a carnival, the boys an auction. The boys won by an amount of five dollars and a total of $82 was raised for the fund.

The boys were in charge of Mrs. Ritchey and the girls in charge of Mrs. Norma Wald. The entire grade school raised a total of $198 for the drive.

Mrs. F. N. McLaren spent several days in Milton visiting Mrs. Bede Batley and other relatives. She returned home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Roodhouse have gone to Sarasota, Fla., for an indefinite visit with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Seekamp, who are spending the winter there.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Edwards were Lela Hale of Winchester, Miss. Geneva Watson and George Watson of Wood River, and Mrs. Marion Richards and daughter, Barbara, of East Alton, Ill.

The White Hall fire department was called to the Mast home in Maple Heights early Tuesday morning, where only slight damage was done by a fire.

A surprise supper was held Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Piper in honor of Mr. Piper's birthday anniversary. Guests included Mrs. Henrietta Roberts and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Edwards and daughter, Chiken and a large birthday cake made up the menu.

Family Night Held At Murrayville

Murrayville — Family night was held at the Methodist church, with about 50 persons in attendance. A potluck supper was served. Mrs. Mabel Rimmer, Mrs. Sadie Million and Mrs. Mabel Howard comprised the supper committee.

A program was presented by the children of the Sunday school, under the direction of Mrs. Pauline Symons. C. H. Griffiths, superintendent of the grade school, gave an interesting talk.

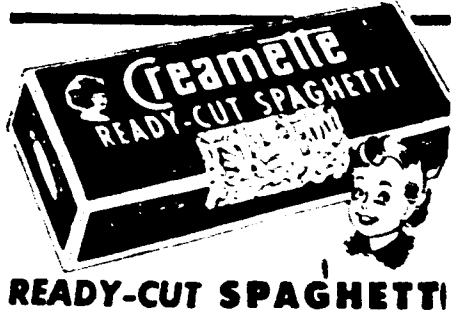

Greek Town Ends Year Of Mourning

Salonica—(P)—The people of battered Naoussa, a small textile town bordering on the Macedonian plain west of here, have marked the end of a year of mourning. It was last January that Naoussa was sacked by three Communist brigades. During the three days the guerrillas remained in the town, they set out on a systematic plan of murdering, burning and looting. Eighty citizens were killed and more than 600 men, women and children dragged off in freezing cold into the mountains.

Naoussa depended mostly on its textile industry. Now the first pieces of new textile machinery have begun to arrive, part of ECA's programs to provide a half-million dollar cotton spinning plant to replace the one destroyed by the Communists.

CARE OF THE TEETH

The Permanent Teeth

Following is the second in a series of question and answer articles published by the Journal Courier in cooperation with the Morgan County Dental Society in observance of Children's Dental Health Day, Monday, February 6.

What are the permanent teeth? The permanent teeth are the second set of teeth with which nature endows us. As a rule they number 32, although in some persons one or more of the set may be absent while other persons may develop one or more super numerary (extra) teeth.

When do permanent teeth come in?

The first permanent teeth appear when the child is about six years old. These are called the six-year molars. They come in directly back of the last primary teeth in both upper and lower jaws. The other permanent teeth follow at fairly regular intervals during the next few years. At about the age of 13 the child's permanent dentition is usually complete except for the third molars—often called "wisdom teeth"—which normally appear sometime between the ages of 17 and 21 years.

Why are the six-year molars considered such important teeth?

One reason is that they are in a sense the guidepost for the rest of the permanent teeth to come. All the other incoming teeth take their positions in relation to the six-year molars. Thus if the molars grow out of line or are lost through neglect, the other teeth may shift out of normal position. Another reason so much emphasis is placed on the importance of these first molars is that because they come in so early and do not replace any of the primary teeth they are frequently mistaken for late primary teeth and are not given the care and attention they should have.

If the first teeth are defective, will the permanent teeth that follow likewise be defective?

Not necessarily. Whether the permanent teeth would be affected by defects in the primary teeth would depend on the nature of those defects and that is why it is so important to give the primary teeth proper care and treatment.

What should be done if a child breaks a permanent front tooth?

A dentist should be consulted at once. There are various ways in which he can protect the broken edge if such protection is needed. If the protection is not given, the pulp (nerve) may die and the tooth might have to be removed.

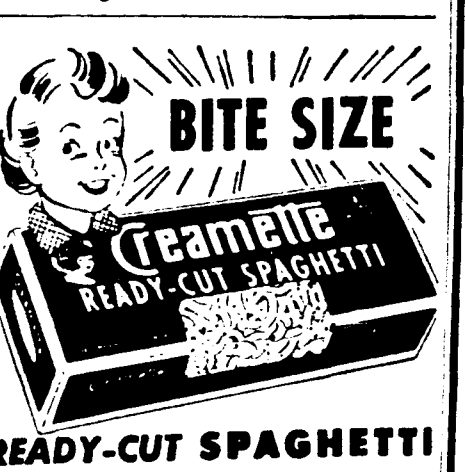

Need anything be done about a wide space between the permanent front teeth of a child?

Here again, the dentist should be consulted. Frequently such spaces close up as the other permanent teeth come in. If the space is still present as the child grows older, some kind of a treatment may be required.

Unity Workers Outline Program

The program for the year was outlined by the Unity Workers of the devotional service. Plans were made for a family night and auction sale in February.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

QUEEN OF THE FOLLIES for 20 years, of the early Twentieth Century was Nora Bayes, seen above in a dainty negligee. Noted for her caprices, her gay romances and impulsive marriages (there were five), Miss Bayes was sometimes called "the most difficult" star in show business. She lived as she thought a big star of her day should, spent money lavishly, traveled in private cars, covered herself with jewels and conducted herself like a queen. No one disputed her right. She had superb talent, a wonderful voice and a great stage personality. One of her husbands was Jack Norworth, actor, songwriter and for a time her vaudeville partner. Most lasting monument to their teamwork is the classic "Shine On, Harvest Moon," which they wrote and made into a hit together.

JOIN THE ARMY AND DODGE YOUR WIFE

London.—British recruiting sergeants used a surefire appeal to get henpecked husbands into the army in the Napoleonic wars. They offered a refuge for men "with too much wife."

This came out at an exhibit of some 40 old recruiting posters in a downtown subway station. One poster urging London men to join the 14th Light Dragons carried this plea:

"All you who are kicking your heels behind a solitary desk, with too little wages or a pinch-gut master, all you with too much wife or who are perplexed with obstinate and unfeeling parents, may apply to Sergeant Hammond, Rose and Crown, Whitechapel."

End of a Chapter

By Edwin Rutt Copyright 1950 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Soon after taking the job of literary secretary to the popular writer "Jo Puigruel," really Mrs. Muriel Hallock, Alice Pine senses a tension between Muriel and her husband, Brent, who is described by village gossip as rather lazy and worthless. However, Alice tries not to pry into their private lives. Brent infuriates her at first, then Alice pities him because he seems tragically defeated. One night during a thunder storm, Alice hears screams, rushing from her room in a wing of the house, Alice discovers Rick, the four-year-old adopted son of the Hallocks, dancing in fear and panic around Brent in the hallway. Brent makes an attempt to hide a small, menacing-looking whip, by kicking it under the rug with his foot, but Alice is almost sickened by the sight. The next day no mention is made of the incident and Alice is left alone as the Hallocks drive to town, though soon Alice wanders out to the terrace. A stranger is sitting there.

X

IT occurred first to Alice Pine that a prowling beachcomber, finding the Hallocks not at home, was making remarkably free with their properties. This individual, fantastically arrayed in paint-smeared slacks and striped jersey, was slumped in a deck chair. Beside him, on a white iron table, stood a Tom Collins, together with the makings of many more.

Alice noted a gin bottle, an ice bucket, a small pitcher of lemon juice, sparkling water and a sugar bowl. Collins-wise, the beachcomber was palpably not one to omit any essential ingredients.

At Alice's appearance the stranger blinked sleepy green eyes. Sandy lashes drooped over the eyes. His hair was that color and sandy stubble covered his chin. His face, rather a nice face, surprisingly, was freckled and tanned.

"Gee," he said, struggling belatedly to rise, "I didn't know there were any guests here. I—"

Alice waved him back. "Please, don't get up. I'm not a guest, exactly. And I'm only passing by."

The sandy person grinned, and kept his seat. "You and Mr. Pim, eh? But I wish you wouldn't." He was suddenly inspired. "What about a drink?"

She hesitated. "I might if—"

"If you knew who was inviting you? Oh, I'm only Chuck Wisner. Long-time old friend of the family."

Alice explained herself, adding: "But I thought you were in Bermuda." She remembered Molly Tremayne's mention of him.

"Flew back yesterday. But you've heard of me? No good. I'll bet."

"No good whatever," she replied smiling. His crooked grin, half-cocky, half-rueful, encouraged small talk. "I gathered that you're a bad character. And this performance proves it."

"Now look," said Chuck insouciantly. "I came all the way over here to get Brent to help me paint my sailboat. Then I hear, from the cook, that he and Muriel are off gallivanting. So I'm letting Brent buy me a couple, to build up stamina for the return trip. By the way, who's taken my name in vain? The Hallocks?"

"Well, they've mentioned you. But first, it was a lady I met from Tolliver."

He squinted. "Uh-uh! Tolliver ladies think I'm poison, mostly."

HEAD on one side and grinning, Chuck Wisner looked about 11 years old and very non-poisonous. Alice said reprovingly: "This one certainly did."

"Let me guess who? Esther Grafton? Molly Tremayne? Rae Richards?"

"You're way off." But she wondered how he had hit it so quickly. "Of course, though, I wouldn't tell you even if you guessed."

He looked disappointed. "That isn't nice, Alice. But I mentioned the leading felines. Must have been some kitty-cat of the lesser variety. Well, how about that drink?"

"What'll I drink out of? My shoe?"

He got up leisurely, went into the house and returned with another glass. Mixing the drink, he said lightly: "So the great writer got herself an amanuensis?"

"Don't you think she needs one?" Alice asked. "Anybody that successful?"

Chuck looked her up and down. "Mm. Maybe. And she sure picked a honey while she was at it."

"Why, Chuck! But I'll bet that's your routine for all the—Tolliver ladies."

He handed her the drink. "Listen, Alice, you're a tyro here. Tolliver ladies don't speak to me. Not if they see me first."

"Why? What are you, the village villain?"

"Nope. The village loafer. I don't work, you see. And if you don't do that on this stern and rockbound coast, you're strictly anathema."

BEING "anathema" did not seem to bother him much. He spoke with relish, as if vastly amused. But then his face sobered. "How long have you been here, Alice?"

"About a month."

"Like it?"

She hesitated, remembering the previous night. "O-h, yes."

Chuck had caught the hesitation. "Not too sure, eh?"

"Certainly I am. Why not?"

"I don't know. Only Brent's a very odd sort of a guy."

Alice controlled a snort. "I don't work for Brent."

"That's right, you don't." Chuck sipped his drink. "How's he doing these days, by the way?"

"I wouldn't know," said Alice. "I don't see much of him."

"Brent," Chuck looked reflective, "is also a very fine guy."
